

THE WASTE LAND

BY

T. S. ELIOT

The great modernist epic poem – published in October 1922 – is 100 years old.
It revolutionized English-language poetry – for better or worse.

It's a poem full of voices, and insists on being heard.

Public Readings in Dunedin

by Paul Tankard

Associate Professor of English, University of Otago

July / August 2023

Come along and catch up with the twentieth century – or see what you missed.

After a short introduction, the poem will be read aloud. No booking, no lecture, no commentary, no charge. The whole event will take around 40 minutes.

Sun 30 July, 4pm - The Inch Bar (with the Bill Martin Trio)

Tues 1 August, 5pm - Dunedin City Library @ the Cube

Wed 2 August, 5pm - Waikouaiti Library

Tues 8 August, 5pm - University of Otago Library @ Special Collections

Tues 15 August, 5pm - The Hocken Library

Fri 18 August, 7.30pm - Knox College @ the Buttery

English and Linguistics

Contact: paul.tankard@otago.ac.nz

NEW YORK
BONI AND LIVERIGHT
1922