Mark Parker seminar room, UniCol

For catering, RSVP bioc.reception@otago.ac.nz by 25 March.

This workshop will bring together researchers at the University of Otago who are using bioinformatic tools to study the genomes, transcriptomes and biology of microbes. The aim is to learn about the breadth of research across the University and to exchange ideas on best practice and tools to use. Format will be 20 minute talks. We anticipate (and invite) one talk per research group but additional speaking slots may be available. Please email Iain Lamont (iain.lamont@otago.ac.nz) by 25 March if you would like to present a talk.
