Surveillance, Copyright, Privacy
The End of the Open Internet

Dunedin, New Zealand
Jan 30 – Feb 1, 2014
http://blogs.otago.ac.nz/scpconf

DRAFT PROGRAMME

Thursday January 30

9-9.30am: Registration and Coffee [Castle 1 foyer]
10-10.05am: Introduction, Welcome and Mihi Whakatau [Castle 1]
10.05-12pm: Plenary Panel:

Are we at the beginning of the end of the open internet?
Panel discussion with Vikram Kumar (CEO, Mega), Nicky Hager (independent author and journalist) and Professor Graham Murdock (Professor of Culture and Economy); Moderated by Judge David Harvey (District Court)

12pm-1pm: Lunch [Castle 1 foyer and Library Lawn]

1pm-2.30pm: Parallel Sessions [Library Conference Rooms]

Session I: Law, Censorship and Surveillance
Cybersearches: The scope of the computer search provisions of the Search and Surveillance Act 2012
— David Harvey, District Court
Ubiquitous Online Surveillance and the Right to Anonymity
— Angela Daly, Swinburne University of Technology
Citizen, Subject, Panspectron: Datamining and popular, commercial and state surveillance
— John Farnsworth, University of Otago

Session II: Surveillance and Social Theories
Consent of the Surveilled: Transparency, power and privilege
— Kevin Fisher, University of Otago
Surveillance and Simulation: Baudrillard, Deleuze and Control
— Brett Nichols, University of Otago
The End of Digital Sharing: A dis-associated milieu?
— Simon Ryan, University of Otago

2.30pm-3pm: Afternoon Tea, [Library Common]

3pm-4.30pm: Keynote: Nicky Hager
— Surveillance and Privacy in the Snowden Era [Castle 1]
Friday January 31

8.30am-9pm: Registration and Coffee [Library Common]

9am-10.30am: Parallel Sessions [Library Conference Rooms]

Session III: Copyright Cultures

Copyright, Creative Commons and Libre Culture in New Zealand
— Mark McGuire, University of Otago
Institutional Corruption, Exploits and Legitimacy: Understanding the commodification of malware
— Shenja van der Graaf, London School of Economics

Session IV: Social Media, Surveillance and Networked Societies

Situated ICT Moralities: Personal use of the internet at the office through the lens of productive moral gray zones
— Adrian Cloete, University of Montreal
Facebook Knows I’m a Dog… So What?
— Louis Sagnieres, Université de Montreal
Contesting Control in Surveillance Societies
— Sy Taffel, Massey University

10.30am-11am: Morning Tea [Library Common]

11am-12.30pm: Parallel Sessions [Library Conference Rooms]

Session V: The Politics of Privacy

“We Now Know Who You Are”: Privacy, anonymity and the unmasking of Reddit’s Violentacrez
— Emily van der Nagel, Swinburne University of Technology
Digital Democracy Behind the Great Firewall: Ambiguity, humour and language games
— Paola Voci, University of Otago
Seeking Support in Secret
— Sonja Vivienne, University of Queensland

Session VI: Roundtable Discussion

Is Copyright Law Killing the Music Industry?
[Facilitator: John Egenes, University of Otago]

12.30pm-1.30pm: Lunch [Library Common]

1.30pm-3pm: Keynote: Graham Murdock

— Surveillance and Secrecy in the Age of Big Data [Castle 1]
3pm-3.30pm: Afternoon Tea [Library Common]

3.30pm-5pm: Parallel Sessions

Session VII: Spectacle and Compliance
Surveillance, The Spectacle and the Witness: The role of visual culture in a surveillance society
— Margi MacMurdo-Reading, University of Otago
Media Power, Framing, and the New Zealand Press: The Kim Dotcom raids
— P.A. McMillan, University of Otago
Occupy, Resist, Produce: Cyber resistance in Italy
— Massimiliana Urbano, University of Otago

Session VIII: Roundtable Discussion
OER and Open Source in Education: issues and successes
[Facilitator: Erika Pearson, University of Otago]

6.30-late: Conference Banquet at Etruscos
Saturday February 1

8.30am-9am: Registration, and Coffee [Library Common]
9am-10.30am: Parallel Sessions
   Session IX: Roundtable Discussion
   A Digital Bill of Rights?
   [Facilitator: Clare Curran, MP for Dunedin South]

   Session X: Digital Erasure
   Should Australians Have A Right To Be Forgotten By Their Intelligence Agencies?
   — John Selby, Macquarie University
   Captured at Birth? Intimate surveillance and digital legacies
   — Tama Leaver, Curtin University
   Making Molehills Out of Mountains: Reconceptualising consumer privacy literacy in social networking environments
   — Liam Pomfret, University of Queensland

10.30am-11am: Morning Tea [Castle 1 foyer]

11am-12.30pm: Keynote: Vikram Kumar
   — The View From The Coalface: Surveillance, Copyright, Privacy in a post-Snowden era

12.30pm-1.30pm: Lunch, thank you and close.